TRB Mission & History

TRB's mission is to promote innovation and progress in transportation through research.

- Established in 1920.
- Division of the National Research Council of the US – independent adviser to the POTUS, Congress, and federal agencies on scientific and technical questions of national importance.
- Jointly administered by the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine
- Annually engages more than 7,000 engineers, scientists, and other transportation researchers and practitioners from the public and private sectors and academia, all of whom contribute their expertise in the public interest by participating on TRB committees, panels, and task forces.
- Funded by state transportation departments, federal agencies including the U.S. Department of Transportation, and other organizations and individuals interested in the development of transportation.

TRB Subcommittees & Benefits of Participating

- Over 200 committees, almost every transportation topic is represented
- Provide you with an opportunity to contribute to advancing the state of the art and the state of the practice in transportation.
- Visit www.TRB.org/AboutTRB/Committees.aspx for a list
- Contact the Chair to express interest and share your qualifications
- Become a “friend” of the committee. Membership requires a formal process, however participation in committee activities is not limited to members.
- Participate in committee meetings and conference calls
- Volunteer your time to review papers, work on committee projects, give presentations, etc.
- When a member space opens up, Chair looks at list of “friends”
